

LIVIGNO™ – a Stunning Rendition of Weathered Stone Announced by Marazzi USA

Visual variety within an array of earthen colors holds the promise of an affordable format with designer possibilities

In the natural world, erosion by environmental elements smooths the surface of rock until it's satiny and reveals intriguing shades and textures beneath. LIVIGNO by Marazzi USA captures that ever-changing look of primal weathered stone in modern, easy-to-install, easy-to-clean ceramic tile engineered for interior residential installations.

Widely-ranged tones of golden brown, grey and walnut evoke the true shadings and variations found within the earth's strata. LIVIGNO depicts these natural fractures and fissures with amazing accuracy; fine lines dissect the tile's surface while evidence of stone residues appears randomly dispersed. Clean, straight edges keep this stone look relevant for modern lifestyles.

Warm, earthy colors comprise the series, making it a perfect foil for more adventurous, more colorful home furnishings and accent pieces that express individuality and design flair. Two generous sizes (12"x12" and 18"x18") with accompanying 2"x2" mesh-mounted mosaic sheets and 3"x12" bullnose trim take the floor – and walls and counter tops and baths and . . . wherever the imagination soars.

The maintenance criteria for LIVIGNO are so simple; generally, hot water and a mop are all that is necessary. No harsh chemicals or special cleaning tools are required, so there is no concern about emissions of strong odors or residues remaining in the air or on surfaces. Recycled content plus an impervious surface that inhibits the formation of mold and allergens are prime features. LIVIGNO contributes to a clean and healthy environment that's strikingly beautiful as well as easy to keep that way.
